“There is nothing else in the world so perfectly custom-made to what womb twin survivors need, than to work directly with Althea Hayton, either privately or in a group. Her ability to expertly process each unique case affords quantum shifts in one’s healing. I have moved forward by leaps and bounds, having attended her last workshop.”

Althea Hayton is a womb twin survivor herself and has worked with other womb twin survivors in a group workshop setting since 2007. Althea holds the Post-Graduate Diploma in Counselling from the University of Hertfordshire. Her style of working draws on many therapeutic activities. She is highly intuitive, creative and hands-on. She uses psychodrama, informal rituals, art and imaginative play with womb twin survivors to help them recognise how they are keeping the memory of their lost twin alive in their life in various subtle ways.
